General Admission, Pay What You May

As part of last year's Youth Theatre Workshop, independent film maker and performer Valérie Lanciaux helped create a short movie with her young students. After much enthusiasm, Valérie decided to propose a week-long workshop where students could film, be director assistants, script writers, costume designers, prop techs...and if interested the week after, learn, for a few optional hours, how to edit a movie.

Join us, and enjoy the results of their efforts!
